Comap has unveiled a stunning new tap book, to showcase its latest collection of beautiful bathroom and kitchen taps.

The forty-four page catalogue presents the stylish taps and fittings to their very best. With colour images and technical specifications included for each and every one of the thirteen ranges of taps, it is a comprehensive reference guide that answers all your potential questions about the ranges.

With collections spanning timelessly classic to striking contemporary designs, you can find extended ranges for firm favourites such as the Vitesse collection, right through to new ranges such as Scope, which features fluid lines and pared-back elegance for a clean look.

The tap book also features a full range of fitting accessories, including new concealed and exposed shower brackets as well as a huge selection of wastes suitable for baths, basins, sinks and showers.

In addition to the bathroom collections, the new tap book features two attractive kitchen ranges: the sleek Ultima and the Parisienne which adds charm to any kitchen.

UK Product Strategy Director, Chris Ramster, commented: "The new tap book looks absolutely fantastic. It's great to see Comap's unparalleled range of taps presented so beautifully: the catalogue is a really comprehensive guide, which takes the guesswork out of selecting the right tap for the job. I know this is the sort of guide that our customers will feel confident presenting to their own customers."
